Michael Jackson

Co-Founder & Chief Creative Officer | Mya Kai Creative

Michael Jackson is a natural leader, creative thinker, and dedicated member of the advertising community. He has been working in marketing for nearly 15 years and has a wide range of experience designing for various industries. Michael has not only achieved great success in his career, but he is also committed to giving back to the local advertising community. He does this by donating services, mentoring young designers, and providing opportunities in the creative field to minorities. Michael's charismatic personality and supportive approach have helped him to build strong relationships with his team members, leading to a culture of growth, collaboration, and success.

One of the most remarkable aspects of Michael's leadership style is his ability to inspire his team members. He has a natural charisma that makes him approachable, and his infectious energy and positive attitude motivate his team to give their best. Michael is always available to listen and provide guidance, which makes his team members feel valued and heard. He also encourages his team members to think outside the box and to take risks, which has resulted in innovative and successful campaigns.
